Certificates are risky instruments of wealth investment. Should the price of the respective underlying instrument of a certificate develop adversely, an investor may lose part or all of his or her invested capital. Certificates react more strongly or weakly to changes of the price of the underlying instrument depending on a number of factors (e.g. volatility or correlation of the underlying instruments, interest, dividends, remaining term, changes in foreign exchange rates) and do not move simultaneously with the underlying.

Under certain circumstances the issuer is authorized to redeem the certificates prior to the agreed repayment date.

Issuer Risk/Creditor Participation ("bail-in"): Any payments during or at the end of the term of the certificates depend on the solvency of the issuer ("issuer risk"). Investors are therefore exposed to the risk that Raiffeisen Bank International AG might be unable to fulfil its payment obligations in respect of the described financial instrument such as in the event of insolvency ("issuer risk") or an official directive ("bail-in"). The price of the Capital Protection Certificate is dependent on the underlying's price. Adverse performances of the underlying may cause price fluctuations of the Certificate during the term. If the Capital Protection Certificate is sold prior to the end of the term, there is the risk to incur a substantial loss of the invested capital ("market risk"). The capital protection of 110% of the nominal value applies solely at the end of the term. Loss of value due to inflation is not covered by the capital protection. During the term, the price of the Capital Protection Certificate may drop below the agreed capital protection amount. During the term, the Capital Protection Certificate's price is subject to several influencing factors and needs not develop simultaneously to and in accordance with the underlying's performance. Such influencing factors include e.g. intensity of the underlying's price fluctuations (volatility), interest rates, solvency of the issuer or remaining term. If the Capital Protection Certificate is sold prior to the end of the term, there is the risk to incur a partial loss of the invested capital. Dividends and similar rights associated with the underlying are taken into account when structuring the Capital Protection Certificate and are not paid out.
