Underlying

The harmonized consumer price index tracks the change in the general price level in the euro area. By calculating the HICP, one obtains an overview of inflation for the entire euro area. It is thus used by the European Central Bank, among others, to monitor price stability as part of its mandate.

For the Inflation Bond, the HICP excluding euro area tobacco is used.

Issuer risk/creditor participation ('Bail-in'): All payments during the term or at the end of the term of the investment products are dependent on the solvency of RBI (issuer risk). Investors are exposed to the risk that RBI as the issuer might be unable to fulfil its payment obligations in respect of the financial instruments, e.g. in the event of insolvency (insolvency/over-indebtedness) or an official order for resolution measures by the resolution authority. The resolution authority may also issue such an order before any insolvency proceedings if RBI is judged to be in crisis. Under these circumstances the resolution authority has wide-ranging powers to take action (so-called "bail-in instruments"). Among other things, it can reduce investors' claims under the financial instruments described to zero, terminate the financial instruments described or convert them into RBI shares, and suspend investors' rights. Further detailed information is available at raiffeisenzertifikate.at/en/bail-in. A total loss of the invested capital is possible.

The capital protection of 100% of the nominal value applies solely at the end of the term. Loss of value due to inflation is not covered by the capital protection. During the term, the price of the investment product may drop below the agreed capital protection amount. During the term, the investment product's price is subject to several influencing factors and needs not develop simultaneously to and in accordance with the underlying's performance. Dividends and similar rights associated with the underlying are taken into account when structuring the investment product and are not paid out.
